YOUR 100 WORD SUMMARY:

Having been raised in a mixed cultural environment enabled me to understand the different needs of people with different background, and different interests. And working as a lecturer assistant, researcher and as a part of a hospital-medical team have all improved my team working , cooperation ,time management, and decision making skills. From my first years at school to graduate and working state, I have always tried to represent the voice of others, in an honest, responsible, respectful, and caring way.

YOUR MANIFESTO:

I have previously served as a student representative at university of Leeds; therefore I understand the importance of reflecting the students needs and views in the staff-student committee as well as to the Union body.

As an international postgraduate student, I look forward to highlighting the needs of international students, and to be the voice of all students in my faculty, to help make the best out of the studying experience at UCL, and make the faculty and the university a better place for all.

If I get elected to represent postgraduates in biomedical sciences faculty, i will do the following:

- 1- I will do my best to represent the students, raise their issues, and solve their problems.
- 2- Always ensure all UCL Union events and initiatives are in favour of students from biomedical sciences.
- 3- Represent my faculty in the union and raise awareness of issues within the faculty and/ or within the union.
- 4- Specifically reflect the needs of new international student in the faculty and facilitate their study at UCL.
- 5- Help make UCL a better place for future students

Having been raised in a mixed cultural environment enabled me to understand the different needs of people with different background, and different interests. And working as a lecturer assistant, researcher and as a part of a hospital-medical team have all improved my team working , cooperation ,time management, and decision making skills. From my first years at school to graduate and working state, I have always tried to represent the voice of others, in an honest, responsible, respectful, and caring way. In conclusion, I plan to continue doing the same if I am elected.
