YOUR MANIFESTO:

I'm a third year Biomedical Sciences student also known as a life science veteran. I've experienced a number of Life science changes through my years in UCL, including splitting the faculty into the 'Division of Biosciences' and the 'Division of Psychology and Language Sciences. There have been numerous changes both in admin and academic services. As a life science faculty rep I would ensure the opinions and problems experienced by students are taken to the necessary departments as well as being taken to Faculty Board where they can be discussed with the education officer and other faculty reps.

The faculty of life sciences is one of the biggest faculties in UCL and a problem with having such a diverse area of education is that the voice of a few students can be ignored. I promise to act upon any individual faculty problem within 24 hours and to give a response within 48 hours.

As UCL continues to expand as an institution it's important that the interest of its students are preserved and as a faculty rep I promise to do all I can to make sure this happens!
